

Membership ID #GK18469 considering your paper Capture Aware Channel Access Protocol in Wireless Network

1 message

London Journals Press <manuscript@journalspress.com>
To: Samah Mustafa <samah.eecs@gmail.com>

Mon, Mar 9, 2020 at 8:19 AM

Dear Dr.,

We're are glad to have you onboard with us.

Soon our support team will be emailing you the credentials for your login to our member platform portal. On the platform, you can enter your complete details like your bio, research interests, academic profile, etc. and it'll be visible on your profile page that you may share with others as well and use it in your career details. This profile will be shared with other researchers, scientists, scholars and professionals as well when they'll look for collaborations. We're strictly against spamming and we'll never share your profile for that and will restrict our partners for the same.

Franklin Membership is derived from Author Membership with more benefits and privileges. As a part of this honorary invitation, the membership fee is fully waived off for you. Publication fees for your first two research papers are also discounted for you by 30%. As a part of this, you'll be getting early invitations to all our conferences, seminars, symposiums and webinars worldwide. You'll be receiving premium tools from our partners and us that'll help you in your next research. An individual DOI will be facilitated to your subsequent research papers/articles published with us. Membership fees have been waived off for you already. Your researches will be getting early nominations for London Journals Press Yearly Awards as well. We'll also assist you to connect with fellow researchers associated with us and are working in the same domain and looking for collaborations on our platform.

Also, I welcome your next research work to be published in London Journals Press. You may follow this link to submit your research paper:

<https://journalspress.com/submit-papers-home>

Click on the button that says 'Submit Paper Without Login' if you do not have login credentials from us before you want to submit your paper. You may also send your research manuscript to us at support@journalspress.com.

Our research paper submission process is easy and flexible. Researchers may prefer officially acceptable standard templates though they can submit their paper in any format. Our expert team carefully handles typesetting and formatting. This flexibility allows you to focus on innovating your research, not on formatting.

If you need any assistance or have any query, feel free to reach out to our support team at support@journalspress.com or visit our website and use live chat support.

Again, I would like to welcome you to our Franklin Membership.