

ÉTUDES MÉSOPOTAMIENNES
MESOPOTAMIAN STUDIES

N°1 – 2018

DIRECTION

VINCENT DÉROCHE,
MARIA GRAZIA MASETTI-ROUAULT
ET CHRISTOPHE NICOLLE

SECRETARIAT DE REDACTION

NARMEN ALI MUHAMAD AMEN,
LIONEL MARTI, OLIVIER ROUAULT
ET ALINE TENU

Sommaire

Liste des auteurs du présent volume	iii
Avant-propos	1
Le comité éditorial / The editorial board
A- Publication du Colloque Archéologie et Histoire des empires : modèles, projets et travaux en cours en Mésopotamie du Nord. Nouveaux programmes au Kurdistan d'Irak
Présentation et programme du Colloque international.....	9
Maria Grazia MASETTI-ROUAULT
New Perspectives in Archaeology in Iraqi Kurdistan.....	13
Abubakir O. ZAINADIN (MALA AWAT)
Heritage conservation and traditional houses: problems and solutions.....	15
Nader Babakr MOHAMMED
Welcoming Archaeological Projects in Iraqi Kurdistan: The Kurdish Point of View	22
Gouhar SHEMDIN
Slemani Museum and its History	35
Hashim Hama ABDULLAH
Rethinking Assyrian History: New Archaeological Research at Qasr Shemamok, Iraqi Kurdistan (2011-2013).....	47
Maria Grazia MASETTI-ROUAULT
Quelques réflexions autour des fouilles à Kilizu, aujourd'hui Qasr Shemamok (Erbil, Kurdistan d'Iraq) : ville et territoire	55
Pedro AZARA, Joan BORRELL, Marc MARÍN et Eric RUSIÑOL
The Ancient History of the City of Erbil ab urbe condita to the coming of Alexander.....	63
John MACGINNIS
An Ubaid Kiln at Tell Nader (Kurdistan Region in Iraq)	70
Konstantinos KOPANIAS
Rapport préliminaire sur la première campagne de fouilles à Kunara (Mission Archéologique du Peramagron 2012) niveaux fin Bronze Ancien, début Bronze Moyen.	77
Christine KEPINSKI
Prospection dans la haute vallée du Tanjaro (Mission archéologique du Peramagron 2011).....	90
Aline TENU
Les voies de communication dans le pays assyrien : l'exemple de la plaine sud d'Erbil (Kurdistan irakien)	110
Lionel MARTI et Christophe NICOLLE

Tenu, Aline, CNRS, UMR 7041 ArScAn, aline.tenu@mae.cnrs.fr

Thareani, Yifat, Nelson Glueck School of Biblical Archaeology, Israël, tyifat1@gmail.com

Tomczyk, Jacek, Université Cardinal Wyszyński, Varsovie, Pologne), jacontko32@tlen.pl

Ur, Jason, Université de Harvard, U.S.A., jasonur@fas.harvard.edu

Valentini, Stefano, Center for Ancient Mediterranean and Near Eastern Studies, Brno, République Tchèque, stefano.valentini@camnes.org

Vallet, Régis, Institut Français du Proche-Orient (IFPO), CNRS USR 3135, r.vallet@ifporient.org

Vitale, Quentin, UMR 7133 Archéorient, Maison de l'Orient et de la Méditerranée, Lyon, quentin.vitale@mom.fr

Zainadin, Abubakr O. (Malaawat), Directeur Général des Antiquités du Kurdistan d'Irak, malaawat@yahoo.com

Les résumés ont été traduits en kurde et en arabe par Narmen Ali Muhamad Amen (Université Salahaddin Erbil, Kurdistan d'Irak). Ils ont été dactylographiés par Nariman Khana, Srood Talb, et Abdullah B Othman. Hawkar Ahmed Abdulrahman a assuré une dernière relecture et harmonisation de l'ensemble de ces textes.

The first volume of the series EMMS, Études Mésopotamiennes - Mesopotamian Studies, presents a collection of articles, communications and preliminary reports representing the advancement, in recent years, of human sciences - archaeological, historical, philological and cultural researches - concerning ancient Mesopotamia area studies. It contains the first results of a number of excavation and survey programmes carried out by different European teams particularly in the Kurdistan region of Iraq, developed since the reopening of this large territory to international research after the long pause due to war. The volume includes also studies, debates, and reflections preparing and illustrating the new trends in the research launched now in Mesopotamia. Marked by the continuity of the scientific traditions, they show the changes induced by the evolution of mentalities and by new methods, techniques and instruments of work. The proceedings of an international congress held in Paris in 2013, show also the orientation of Iraqi archaeologists' researches, and their perceptions of the new, possible collaboration starting now in the region. In the same spirit, to allow a better circulation and sharing of their contents, the texts are accompanied by large summaries translated into Arabic and Kurdish.

Vincent Déroche is a former alumnus of the École Normale Supérieure, former member of the École française d'Archéologie d'Athènes, researcher at the Centre national de la recherche scientifique (CNRS), currently Directeur de recherche, Directeur adjoint or the UMR 8167, « Orient & Méditerranée », for the part « Monde byzantin ». He is elected to the chair of « Littérature byzantine » at Sorbonne Université, and to the chair « Christianisme byzantin » at the École pratique des Hautes Études (Paris).

Maria Grazia Masetti-Rouault, a specialist of Late Bronze - Iron Age Mesopotamian cultures, is Directeur d'études (Professor) in the École Pratique des Hautes Études PSL, Sorbonne University in Paris, where she holds the Chair of « Religions of the Syro-Mesopotamian societies: Archaeology and History ». Since 2005, she is co-director of the Syro-French Archaeological Mission in Tell Masaikh and its region (Syrian Lower Middle Euphrates area) and, since 2015, she is also Director of the French Archaeological Mission in Qasr Shemamok (Iraqi Kurdistan).

Christophe Nicolle is an archaeologist specialist of pre-classical Middle East archaeology, working in different regions (Northern Mesopotamia, Northern Levant, South Levant), participating or directing several excavations or surveys over periods ranging mainly from the Chalcolithic to the Late Bronze Age. Former member of the French Institute of the Near East (IFPO), researcher at the National Center for Scientific Research (CNRS), he currently works in a team of the Collège de France (Paris).

ISBN 978-1-78491-941-2

