General comments

The care departments are each assigned to a specialist discipline and subdivided into care groups

To maintain an adequate level of supervision each (16-24) care area should contain no more than (10-12) beds

For economical use of staff, two workstations are often placed together and connected to a large central nurses' service area (caring for about 30-34 patients)

General comments

-:Nursing areas should be distinguished

- .Normal nursing area
- .Intensive care area
- .Special care area

There are fewer beds per care group in the intensive care beds, depending on the 6-12 and special care areas ( .(size of the hospital

These rooms should be larger than normal care rooms because more instruments and equipment need to be .accommodated
