This workshop was organised within the scope of the Education and Skills in Additive Manufacturing (ESAM) project at the Institute for Machine Elements, Engineering Design and Manufacturing of TU Bergakademie Freiberg. ESAM is part of the German – Iraq Academic Partnership program funded by the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD). Online, workshop-based course focused on improving English-language skills to improve communication through academic writing. Focus is on self-learning of English language structures in the framework of writing scientific papers.
